CHRISTOPH BRACH, DANIERA TER HAAR

"Hard corners cannot be found"

The way we sit affects our mood and our thoughts. And seating pieces have an outsize influence on the look and feel of a room. Contemplating these givens, Dutch industrial design duo Raw Color—aka Christoph Brach and Daniera ter Haar—posed a question: "Why can't a seat be a piece of art when not in use?" The resulting Link is a wonder of whimsy. Lending itself to play as well as lounging, the sculptural sofa embodies the spirit of connection through its chain-link form; modules can be adjoined via integral zips. Link is available in a range of colors as well as a multitone version. Through Lepere. lepereinc.com, sancal.com
